IDENTIAL CAMPAIGN.

We desire to have the News largely circulated during the Presidential campaign. The larger our subscription list the more effectually will we be enabled to work, and to this end we trust our friends and patrons will exert themselves somewhat in adding to our present list. The nation will in November declare for Greeley and Brown, and it is essential that North Carolina should place herself squarely on this liberal movement—for such a consummation will we earnestly labor.

In order to place the DAILY and WEEKLY NEWS within the reach of all, we will send them for a period of four months at the following rates:

DAILY NEWS.	One copy,	Five copies,	Ten copies, $2 25	10 00	17 50

WEEKLY NEWS.	One copy,	Five copies,	Ten copies, $2 50	10 00	17 50

We trust our friends in the State will assist us in adding names to our list, as by a little exertion on their part we can be enabled to accomplish much good during the present campaign.

LOCAL MATTER.

E. C. WOODSON, City Editor.

CHANGE OF APPOINTMENT.—In consequence of the prevalence of small-pox in Nashville, Mr. London, our elector for this District, will not fill his appointment there on the 26th inst., but will speak at Rocky Mount on that day.
His other appointments in that county will be filled.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

The street sprinkler—where is it?
Business brisk and lively yesterday.
Several fashionable weddings are on the tapis.

Gov. Caldwell returns to the city this morning.

The weather yesterday was cool, cloudy and pleasant.

Street beggars are becoming more plentiful every day and quite a nuisance to our citizens.

Wm. L. A. B. Branch, Esq., will leave the city this evening for his home in Beaufort county.

The speaking at Metropolitan Hall last evening closed too late to get a synopsis in this issue.

Several members of our city Bar left yesterday morning for Johnson Superior Court, now in session.

Only one drunken negro to be seen on the street Sunday, and he was under the charge of a Policeman.

J. G. Hester has purchased the Hinton Mansion, on Hillsboro street, opposite the Old Club House.

One of Tucker's clerks has such an intense dread of Cholera Morbus that he will not kiss a girl whose lips are not ripe.

The North Carolina R. R. has changed its passenger schedule so as to enable the trains to reach this city going east at 5:55 A. M., and going west at 7:58 P.
M.

We regret to learn that Johnathan Osborne, an old and highly respectable citizen of Oxford, fell from his wagon a few days since and broke his leg.

The many friends of Judge Warren in this city will regret to learn that he was stricken down a few days since with paralysis; information of which was received through a private letter to Mr. J. R. H. Carmer, yesterday.

We see by the Northern sporting papers that our City Treasurer, who has charge of Metropolitan Hall, has advertised it for rent. We hope he will be successful in getting good theatrical companies here, for the city needs all the revenue it can get.

PEACE INSTITUTE.—The exercises of this institution commenced its first session on yesterday, we are pleased to learn, under very favorable auspices.
Rev. R. Burwell, the President, assisted by his son, and an able and experienced faculty, will no doubt render this college not only a pride to the city but to the State.

The large and spacious buildings and premises have been remodeled, decorated and greatly improved. Parties from Baltimore are now putting in a heating apparatus in the building, which when completed will greatly add to its comfort and convenience.

BUSINESS ENTERPRISE—ADVERTIS-ING, ITS FIRST PRINCIPLE.—The following communication has been handed us for publication, signed by "Itinerant Coach Maker."

"As we heartily concur in his views, we make no issue, and produce his article with only a few comments:

Editors Daily News—

Gentlemen:—In last Thursday's issue the following very appropriate notice appeared under the head of Locals:

"We examined yesterday a beautiful toy buggy imported from New York, by George T. Stronach, Esq. It is of the usual size, but weighs only 113 pounds.
We regret that our citizens are driven to the necessity of importing their riding vehicles, and yet it is so. In vain do they search the columns of the DAILY NEWS to find that there is a buggy manufactory in the city of Raleigh, and are therefore compelled to order their work from other cities."

As a coach maker, I acknowledge your local's very cutting allusion to some extent, at least, that "in vain they sent, &c." This acknowledgment, however, is gratuitous, in as much as I do not myself "carry on" the business, and no less a sufferer, for lack of home patronage to my employees. I have no complaint to offer against any gentleman who sees proper to import a fine vehicle from the North for his own use, provided that he cannot be supplied at home. We often hear the question asked, why do not our coach makers supply the market with the styles that are in demand? If the inquirer will only take the trouble and go North, and take a stand in some large coach factory, and see pouring in from North Carolina, intelligent business men, that build up these fine factories to the exclusion of their own, the answer will be easy. If Boston, Philadelphia, Bridgeport, Wilmington, Delaware, New York, and Baltimore, will return just one half the money they have received from North Carolina since the war, into the hands of its proper owners, I will warrant a successful competition, either in "style," durability or price. I cannot promise, however, that a buggy built in North Carolina, the "usual size," will not weigh over 113 lbs.—that is, if the scales are correct. Size without weight may enhance the importance of men, but not buggies.

The writer then proceeds at length to show by a comparison of facts and figures that home manufactures if liberally patronized would be enabled to make as good a show as those of Northern cities. All of which we heartily endorse.

We desire above all things to bring out and show the advantages offered by our home manufactures, and thereby keep our money at home. We desire to see more manufactures in the city of Raleigh, and those that are now here double their business every year, but this cannot be accomplished without some effort on the part of the manufacturers themselves. If there is a carriage and wagon manufactory in Raleigh our numerous readers throughout the State from which Raleigh derives its supply, do not know it, and the consequence is they see advertised a buggy of a certain pattern, or a wagon of a certain style at some other point, and it is an enterprising firm by its advertising, send for and get it.

A manufacturer has no right to complain of a lack of patronage when he does not ask for it or shows a disposition to be careless as to whether he gets it or not.

METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS AND CROP REPORTS.—The meteorological observations for August, and the crop reports as furnished to the Geological Museum in this city, Prof. W. C. Kerr's headquarters, make up the following summary:

Mean temperature of the month for the whole State, 77°; average of the maximum 91°; maximum (at Edenton) 96°; minimum (at Franklin) 49°. Average rainfall 4.7 inches; maximum (at Newbern) 12 inches; minimum (at Boone) 0.6 inches. The mean temperature for the counties near the seaboard is about 80°, and of those beyond the Blue Ridge 73°. At Beaufort 28 cloudless days. The very small range of the thermometer at this point is also notable, the average range for the day being about 4° or 5°, other greatest 11°, and that for only two days, and average for thirty days being only 15°; an equality of climate quite exceptional and insular. The prevalence of west winds (for 29 days) is also notable.

Looking back over the reports for the summer months, we find the average temperature for the season 76° 3/4, which is a little more than a degree above the usually assigned to this State; and the average of the maximum for the whole season is 90° 7/8. Average rainfall for the season 13.06 inches, which is about the due amount.

The crop reports for the month are quite deficient, reports being sent in from only five stations, Beaufort, New-bern, Tarboro, Weldon and Charlotte.
These taken in connection with the reports for previous months show that this must be set down as an unusually abundant year, although these last reports indicate a considerable falling off in the prospects of the cotton crop in some of middle eastern counties from bright, rust and worm.

The Petersburg Index tells of a little girl being killed "by her neck being broken." Sufficient cause, we should say,—Raleigh News.

Our neighbor writes as knowingly and feelingly on the subject, as if he had been hung already.—Petersburg Index.

No, Heaven be praised, we have not yet been hung; for if we had, we would not now be in the land of the living.
We hope our neighbor can see this logical point.

While we have not been hung, neither has our brother Local of the Index, been yet made to "kick the beam," but his escape thus far from the hangman's rope only goes to prove that the gallow has been cheated out of one of its victims.

MAYOR'S COURT—Monday, September 23, 1872—His Honor, Mayor Whitaker, presiding.

Mary Pennington, white, arrested for strolling about the streets, was arrested by officer Dunston, Saturday night and taken to the lock up. Discharged.

Isiah Blake, arrested in the market by Chief of Police King, for drawing a knife on Frank Phillips, colored, was sent on to the Superior Court, in the sum of $200 bail.

Jerry Washington, colored, was found drunk, and down, by policemen Doyle and Petross, and taken to the lock up, where he afterwards feigned sickness, and was discharged.

Fabius Chavis and Washington Craven, both colored, were arrested by Policeman Crosson, near the Central Depot, for fighting. It was shown that these gallants had a misunderstanding on the street, and to settle their difference a fair hand to hand fist fight was proposed and readily accepted, to take place beyond the reach of the Policemen, each promising beforehand not to report the other. The sport was broken up by the police and the parties bound over to Wake Superior Court by his Honor, the Mayor.

MERCANTILE INTELLIGENCE.—R. B.
Andrews, the Clothier, has returned from New York with his usual large stock of fine Ready Made Clothing.— Though Mr. A. left his heart behind him when he left for New York, he did not give up business for pleasure, and bought a beautiful and attractive stock as an examination will prove. Look out for his Fall announcement.

M. A. PARKER, Wholesale Grocer, Cotton Factor and Commission Merchant, advertise, in to-day's issue a large and complete stock of goods in his line, which is kept up by daily arrivals. Mr. Parker being conveniently located on Martin street and Exchange Place, between Fayetteville and Willington streets, will buy and sell country produce, and pay especial attention to the sale of cotton. We commend him to public patronage.

See the advertisement in to-day's issue of the large and well selected stock of Drugs and Chemicals just received and kept constantly on hand by Mr. J. R. H. Carmer. Mr. Carmer is one of the most thorough druggists in the city, having been constantly at the prescription case for over 25 years. Read his announcement, then, go and see for yourself.

PERSONAL INTELLIGENCE.—Judge Samuel W. Watts was at the National yesterday on his way to Johnson county, where he holds court this week.

Wm. S. Roberts, of Hampton, Va., is at the National.

John A. Reno, the famous railroad bridge contractor of the South, is at the National.

Robt. M. Furman, Esq., Editor of the Franklin Courier, favored us with a passing visit yesterday evening. He was en route to the West to see his cousin.

Arthur Whitmore, Esq., formerly a resident of Petersburg, Va., but now of Jefferson, Texas, is at the Yarbrough.
Mr. Whitmore is en route to visit his relations in Virginia, but having many warm personal friends in this city is resting a day or so from his long travel.
He is much improved in health and appearance, and well pleased with his far Western home.

H. A. London, Esq., the Presidential Electors of this District is registered at the Yarbrough, having "worn out" Gen. Wiley D. Jones last night at Metropolitan Hall, who actually had the impudence to ask a division of time with him, he will proceed this morning to Smithfield, where he will address the citizens of Johnson at 2 o'clock this P. M.

We were pleased to meet in our office last evening John T. Britt, Esq., of the Farmers and Mechanics Journal of Goldsboro. This journal is devoted to the interest of the farm, froside and workshop, and fills a large desired want in the Old North State. It is an eight page weekly, and contains a great deal of interesting reading matter. Mr.
Britt is at the Yarbrough, and will be pleased to receive subscriptions for his journal.

Edmund Jones, Esq., the able young representative elect from Caldwell county, is registered at the National. We endorse "tooth and toe" the position of Mr. Jones in the last Legislature, where "for him" when he was re-elected by a largely increased majority in the late election, and we are for him now, even though he is opposed by warm personal friends, in the most important contest of his life.

RELIGIOUS.—The revivals in progress at the Methodist and Baptist Churches, continue with much interest. At the Baptist Church, four new members have been admitted the past week, the Pastor, Dr. Pritchard, baptizing two candidates Sunday night.

At the Methodist Church, eight candidates were admitted to membership on Sunday—and the good work goes bravely on.

SALE OF VALUABLE CITY REAL ES-TATE.—A sure opportunity is offered to capitalists by Mr. Thos. G. Jenkins, who offers for sale a number of lots improved and unimproved, situated in the very heart of the city. Special attention is called to the advertisement elsewhere in to-day's issue.

THE FALL TRADE.—Particular attention is invited to the circular of Davis, Drake, & Co., Petersburg, Va. They inform merchants of North Carolina that they have a large stock of foreign and domestic dry goods and notions, and with the superior advantages they possess in buying goods, they can compete with any house in the South.

The Wilmington Journal says that Cicero W. Harris, editor of the Star, is on a visit to his relatives in Henderson county.

Bro. James's geography is at fault.
Furman, the Franklin Courier, has a cousin in one of the western counties.
Harris found his in this city.

RUMOR OF A NEW LEASE.—It is rumored the Richmond & Danville Railroad have leased that portion of the North Carolina Railroad from Greensboro to Goldsboro, to the Wilmington & Weldon R. R., and steps are being taken to change the gauge at once.

LIFE ASSOCIATION OF AMERICA, ST. LOUIS.
—A meeting of the policy-holders of the Life Association of America held at the company's rooms on the 28th August, for the purpose of considering certain proposed amendments to the charter of the association, it was the sense of the meeting that amendments be added to those proposed, and that the whole be again submitted to the members of the company at a meeting as soon as practicable. Now, therefore, this is to give notice that a meeting of the policy-holders of the Life Association will be held at the principal office of the company in the city of St. Louis, on Wednesday, the 25th day of September, inst., at 10 o'clock A. M., for the purpose of voting for or against the proposed amendments to the charter of the association, in accordance with the provisions of section 15 of an act of the general assembly of the State of Missouri, approved March 10, 1868, entitled "an act for the incorporation and regulation of Life Assurance companies."

TELEGRAPHIC NEWS.

NOON DISPATCHES.

Hornee Greeley at Newport, Kentucky.

CINCINNATI, September 23.

When Greeley arrived at Newport on Saturday he spoke as follows:

"CITIZENS OF NEWPORT: There was a time, and that not many years ago, when I would not have been welcomed to the soil of Kentucky as I am to day. There was a time when Kentuckians did not think of me as they do now, and I believe it was because they did not understand me so well as they do now, for in the olden time I was an humble but zealous friend of Kentucky's noblest statesman, Henry Clay. I loved, I trusted and followed that man for many years, and so was my heart when the news came that our fondest anticipations were brightened and he was to be chosen President. But what matters it? The fame of Clay is world wide, and he is revered and loved by millions of his countrymen, and will be in generations to come.
What matters it whether he filed one office or another, or no office? The office does not make the man, it is men like those who dignify and glorify office."

Mr. Greeley concluded by saying:

"Many times I was told 15 or 20 years ago, 'you can come down South and nobody will hurt you.' I said, 'why should anybody hurt me? There was never a moment I wished ill to the South, and never sought to do the Southern people harm. Why should you tell me I will be protected in the South? I have never been there, because my duties did not call me there.
But I felt certain always that no gentleman of the South would lay a hand upon me, and I don't believe they would let the blackguards do it.' They were talking as if it was but charity to let me pass through. That has passed away, fellow-citizens. You may have been one of the most effective Confederate soldiers of the late struggle, and you may travel all over this country, and I think no one except a very low vulgar person will offer you any insult.
I traveled to the furthest part of the South, to Texas, last year, and I was everywhere well received. I think every Northern man who went South, minding his own business, and giving nobody cause of offense, was treated perhaps as well as I was, and his person and property were just as sacredly respected as mine were.
Now, then, we have opened up a new era in this country. There was a time when it was not so for every Northern man, whatever his principle, could travel through the South. Now, they can do so, and I am glad of it. Think no more of our triumphs in the late struggle—let us rejoice to-day that these triumphs have tended to good to the whole American people. There were actually men in the North who believed, when Lincoln was assassinated, that the Southern people, as a people, rejoiced in that assassination. I am sure it was not so.
But here is the black, bloody deed done, and the whole people sundered for it. It was for a long time impossible to make a large portion of that class believe that the assassination was not the work of the whole Confederate people. There was injustice done them through prejudice, through passion. We must try to dispel that prejudice and that passion. We must try to make the whole people feel that the American name is dear to us all; that even in our struggles we were friends. We did not tear and rend each other; we did not destroy; prisoners were not unjustly treated, but I really believe the people on both sides meant to treat each other with humanity so far as they could do so, and when cruelties took place they were not understood to be approved by the greater number of the people North or South. Now, then, let us all resolve that we shall be nearer to each other next year than this. (Applause.) I am demanding universal amnesty. Why, people say there are only three or four hundred disfranchised. Suppose there were only two hundred. I object to this disfranchisement and this proscription. It puts a stigma on the whole people."

HEAD'S COM. DEM. EX. COMMITTEE, FOURTH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT, September 16th, 1872.

The following is the list of sub-electors for this Congressional District, as far as made out for the ensuing campaign:

Granville County.—Col. John W. Hargrove, A. S. Peace and W. H. P. Jenkins.

Franklin County.—W. S. Harris, T. T. Mitchell and W. K. Barham.

Nash County.—Dossy Battle, B. H. Bunn and W. H. Wheeler.

Johnston County.—Dr. J. T. Leach, W. H. Ayers and L. R. Waddell.

Chatham County.—J. G. Renshaw, O. A. Hanner and J. M. Moring.

The appointments for Orange and Wake counties will be announced hereafter.

The Committee earnestly urge that the Electors and other canvassers make it a point to see that Greeley and Brown clubs are organized and put into operation in every township in their respective counties.

By order of the Committee,
H. A. LONDON, Jr.,
Chairman.

JOHN W. CUNNINGHAM, ESQ.

Among the members elected to the Senate of the North Carolina Legislature, the gentleman whose name stands at the head of this article, will take a high and prominent position.

Mr. Cunningham has considerable Legislative experience, having been repeatedly elected from his county, Person, to the General Assembly.

He is a high-toned gentleman, of popular manners, liberal, kind-hearted and generous, and has many warm and devoted friends.

Mr. Cunningham, moreover, is a true man and a devoted patriot—thoroughly posted on political affairs, and keenly alive to the interests and welfare of his native State.

North Carolina needs the services of such men—men of high character, integrity, patriotism and intelligence—for when such men are in her public councils all will go well. The honor, the rights and liberties of the citizen will be safely guarded.

CABARRUS MOVING.

We have received the proceedings of a meeting of the Liberals of Cabarrus county, held in Concord on the 21st, which we will publish in full to-morrow.

At this meeting a new County Executive Committee was appointed, consisting of Messrs. Paul B. Means, Chairman, J. S. Fisher and W. A. Patterson.

This is a good Committee of working men, and will do their duty faithfully. Let all the counties in the State that are not organized, follow the example of Cabarrus, and go at once to work. From now till the 5th day of November, let organization be the watchword.

THE JEWEL OF CONSISTENCY.

At the recent Convention of Soldiers and Sailors, which met at Pittsburg, Pennsylvania, resolutions endorsing Grant, Wilson and Hartranft were unanimously adopted.

This Convention was called by Radical Soldiers, as it was well known that no Liberals or Democrats were expected or invited.

Many of the most eminent and distinguished Union officers, such men as Gen. McClellan, Hancock, Palmer, Bull, McClelland, Ewing, Hooker, Blair, Kilpatrick, and numbers of others repudiated the action of the Pittsburg meeting, and deny that it had any authority to speak for them or to represent the sentiments of the rank and file of the Federal army.

The Generals we have named, as well as a large number of the same rank, are strongly in favor of Greeley, and many of them are taking an active part in his behalf.

Gen. Grant was invited to be present at Pittsburg, but declined, and wrote a very complimentary letter, commending the objects of the meeting, but being pleasantly engaged at Long Branch, attending the races with Tom Murphy, he did not deem it proper to engage in "the celebration."

There was a similar Convention of soldiers held in the identical city of Pittsburg, in September 1866—just four years ago. It was a meeting of the veterans of the Union army, and General Grant was invited to be present, as he was in September 1872. He likewise declined this invitation, and his letter of declination has been unearthed by the newspapers. We publish below both letters, side by side, to show what a change has come over the spirit of the dream of our wonderful President.

In 1866, he was opposed to any officers in the army taking a conspicuous part in political affairs. In 1872, it is right and proper for them to do so.

In 1866, he says it was contrary to his habits and conviction of duty to attend political meetings. In 1872, his desire "to attend is very great."

In 1866, he denounced the objects of the Soldier's Convention at Pittsburg, so far as it referred to the politics of the country. In 1872, the veteran soldiers who assembled at Pittsburg, in his opinion, were equally entitled with other classes of citizens to meet in Convention and have weight accorded to their political views.

In 1866, he was deeply pained to see any officer in the army taking an active part in political discussions. In 1872, such conduct is an act of wisdom and patriotism. But the two letters speak for themselves, and we publish them for the amusement and instruction of our readers:

WHAT GRANT SAID IN 1866. HEAD'S ARMY, U. S., Washington, D. C., Sept. 18, '66. To Edwin M. Dudley, Chairman, &c.: Sir—Gen. Grant directs me to acknowledge the receipt of your invitation to be present at a national convention of soldiers and sailors, to be held at Pittsburg, Penn., September 25, 1866, for political purposes. It is contrary to my habits and convictions of duty to attend political meetings of any character whatever, and he regrets the action of any officer of the army taking a conspicuous part in the political discussions of the day.

ADAM BADEAU, Col. and A. D. C.

WHAT GRANT SAID IN 1872. LONG BRANCH, N. J., Sept. 9, 1872. Col. E. Dudley, Sec. Veterans' National Committee: Sir—My desire to attend and meet again so many old companions in arms is very great. I know of no class of citizens better entitled to meet in convention, and to Pittsburg, Penn., have weight accorded to their views, than the veteran soldiers, who risked their lives for the honor and perpetuity of their country. I am sure your councils will be marked by wisdom and patriotism, and that the meeting of so many comrades will be a joyous one and an advantageous one. I wish for you all that you expect from your meeting of the 17th inst., and only regret that I cannot be with you on that occasion.

With great respect, Very truly yours, A. RENCHER.

THE PROSPECT IN PENNSYLVANIA.

The prospects in Pennsylvania grow brighter and brighter each day. Our friends there are making a rousing canvass. Forney's paper, the Press, is working hard against Hartranft, the Radical nominee.

The information from all parts of the State is of the most encouraging character. Besides the native speakers, Gov. Walker and Col. J. W. Hinton, of Virginia, are making eloquent and effective speeches to large mass meetings, and Senator Ransom will speak at several points there next week.

JUDGE MERRIMON's majority for Governor would have been over ten thousand if the persons claiming to be Conservatives had turned out on the day of election.

HAVE active, intelligent canvassers been appointed in every County? If not, why not?

TWENTY thousand voters in North Carolina did not vote in the late election.

The New Castle (Eng.) mine owners have refused an advance of fifteen per cent. on wages, on the ground that the price of coal had declined, and a further depreciation was anticipated.

The second trial of Joseph W. Davis, charged with the murder of Abraham L. Lynn, in Carroll county, Md., is in progress in this city.

A VOICE FROM A VETERAN—LETTER OF THE HON. A. RENCHER.

We have the pleasure and gratification of laying before our readers this morning, the following letter from Hon. A. Rencher, of Chatham County, in response to an invitation to address the Greeley and Brown Club at Pittsburg.

Gov. Rencher is a politician of the old school. He is far advanced in age, having reached his seventy-ninth year. In the purer and better days of the Republic, Gov. Rencher was known as a simple pure Democrat, and as such took an active and leading part in the political affairs of the State and nation.

He represented his District in the Congress of the United States from 1829 to 1843, successively, and was afterwards appointed to important and responsible positions under the national Government. He was at one time Charge D'Affaires to Portugal, and subsequently, under Mr. Buchanan's Administration, we believe, was appointed Governor of New Mexico.

Gov. Rencher knows Horace Greeley personally, having served with him in Congress, and he bears testimony to his honesty of character and to his hatred of political and official corruption.

When such white-haired statesmen and life-long Democrats as Gov. Rencher step forward to advocate the claims of Greeley, and to raise their voices against the dangers that environ the Republic by the election of an incompetent and despotic military chieftain, it should inspire the young men of the State to renewed zeal and enthusiasm, to overthrow the present corrupt and tyrannical Administration:

PITTSBURG, N. C., Sept. 20, 1872.

To Wm. L. London and James R. Powell, Esqs.

GENTLEMEN: I received your kind invitation to make an address before the Greeley and Brown club on the 21st instant. I trust I need not assure you how much pleasure it would afford me to comply, if I felt I was able to do justice to the subject, and to myself. Sensible of the great danger to which our institutions are exposed from the acts of this lawless and corrupt administration, I should feel my duty, even at my advanced period of life, to warn the people of the threatened danger, if this was not being done every day by those whose age and opportunities enable them to do it so much more effectively.

Many years ago, while in public life, I had an opportunity of knowing Horace Greeley personally, and have since known him as a public man, and if any endorsement were needed from me, both as to the honesty of his character and his hatred of political and official corruption, I stand ready to give it, and to commend him to the people as a statesman without fear and without reproach. Never, at any period of our history, have these great qualities in a man been so important in a President of the United States as at this moment, when speculation and corruption in high places is the order of the day; and even members of Congress, who should be sentinels upon the watch-tower of public liberty to sound the first alarm at the approach of danger, have taken the proffered bribe, become millionaires upon the public spoils in a few years, and cry all is well. At a time like this, when the public morals have so degenerated, how vastly important it is to have a man in the Presidential chair who will administer the duties of his high office with the dignity that becomes its importance to the people; and who, by his own bright example, will throw down official corruption in others, instead of having it filled, as it now is, by a military chieftain, who seems to regard his pet horses and dogs as the highest order of animated nature, to look upon offices of honor and trust as his own personal property, which he has a right to bestow upon whomsoever he pleases; that those whom he appoints to office are but his henchmen, and bound to do his bidding; and that there is one duty paramount to all others, and to which all others must be sacrificed—that of securing the re-election of their chief.

Let us pray, and labor as well as pray, that a change in government, so important to us in all the relations of life, will be ordered by the people on the 5th of November next.

With great respect, Very truly yours, A. RENCHER.

The criminal docket of Cumberland Superior Court has one capital case, that of Thomas J. Bullard, for the murder of Bledsoe, sometime since. He has not yet been captured.

The Journal says it is the opinion of those who have given the subject careful attention, that the recent robberies committed in that city have been by a gang of boys between 14 and 18 years old.

For the Daily News.

An Address to the People of North Carolina.

The North Carolina Agricultural and Industrial Convention, which met in Raleigh on the 11th of January last, by a unanimous vote directed their President to prepare and issue an address to the people of the State on the subject of co-operation, and such other matters as may be of interest.

The undersigned, in obedience to that resolution, venture to offer some suggestions to the public, and particularly to farmers for their serious consideration. It should be taken as a good omen that upon short notice, and that too imperfectly circulated, more than 200 delegates, representing 24 counties, and 20 different societies and associations, should have assembled together at that season of the year in Convention, that two days should have been devoted by them to the earnest, harmonious and intelligent consideration of subjects of vital importance to the Agricultural interests of the State, and that by tacit consent, everything of a political character should have been excluded from the consideration of the Assembly. It is a step in the right direction.

You were informed through the public press of the subjects which were acted upon by that Convention, and it is therefore not necessary that they should all here be enumerated. You could not have failed to observe that they were all of deep interest—most of them of vital importance, and all are beset with difficulties so great as to render the success of most of the hopes and wishes through the united intelligence and wisdom of the people. If it be possible these difficulties must be met and must be overcome, or we can hardly expect a high degree of success in our Agricultural and other industrial pursuits.

CAPITAL AND LABOR.

In the first place, for example, all men are agreed that we must have more capital and labor, before the State can be raised from its present impoverished and prostrate condition. But capital and labor cannot be created for the hope-casion. It must come to us. And the most sanguine of our leading men have expected that it would pour in upon us from abroad; so many and so great are the inducements held out by the excellence of our soil, climate and production inviting immigration. But others, less sanguine, cannot build with confidence upon these expectations for timely aid and relief. And a sound consideration of the subject will probably lead generally to the following conclusion: Our thousands of acres of uncultivated lands will not be occupied by an industrious population of skillful farmers, unless we have a more abundant supply of valuable laborers until these conditions are first fulfilled on our part.

THE THREE CONDITIONS.

First—Our public debt must be disposed of in some way. This debt (so-called) amounts to $37,000,000, and is daily increasing by accruing interest, and operates as a substantial mortgage for its redemption upon all the property of the people, which as assessed for taxation amounts only to $119,100,000. That is to say the real and personal property of the State is only about three times greater than the debt for which it is bound.

Secondly—Tranquility and good order must be fully established throughout our borders, and the laws must be obeyed as in the days of old. And at home and abroad, everywhere, all must be assured that this is so. The want of this conviction abroad is now operating strongly against us.

Thirdly—A sound system of public instruction must be established on such a footing that all inquirers will be satisfied that it will be permanent and efficient.

Until these three conditions are first performed on our part we may rest assured that adequate relief will not come to us from abroad. Capitalists will not invest here, and companies of valuable immigrants will not settle here.

THE PRESENT RELIEF.

But the trouble is now upon us. It is urgent, cannot wait; what is to be done? The answer is: we must make the most of our present means and resources.

1. We must use what labor we have to the greatest advantage, and make it more valuable to us. This must be done by diminishing the size of our farms, draw in the inclosures, cultivate less land, and cultivate it better, making a less number of acres produce better crops, and with more certainty than the whole plantation does now, and at the same time, by this means, a better system of Agriculture will be introduced.

2. But it is obvious that our surest reliance for labor under our present circumstances is upon our colored people.

The whole population of the State is 1,071,361 souls; of this number 1,241 are Indians, and 391,650 are of African descent. And all things considered they are the best field laborers in the world. We are all here together. They are dependent for their bread upon their labor in the cultivation of the land, and they have no lands of their own to cultivate, while the white population numbering 678,470, own the lands, and to a great extent are unable to cultivate it for themselves. Here then we have presented to us the elements of a most convenient, valuable and necessary arrangement between the two races. The true basis is furnished of a lasting business partnership, mutual interest. One party furnishes the land which of necessity must be cultivated; and the other party furnishes the labor which of necessity must be used in its cultivation. Influenced by these considerations, and also by the high and honorable duty which we owe to the colored race among us, growing out of our former relations with it, this arrangement should be adopted in good faith and carried out on our part upon just, fair and liberal principles.

And we should cheerfully aid them as the weaker party in their endeavors to improve their condition.

THE CHILDREN MUST BE TAUGHT IN THE FIRST PRINCIPLES OF AGRICULTURE.

But labor and capital is not all that our Agriculture requires. The present ruinous mode of Agriculture must be changed.

It has been described as "the art by which good land is converted into old fields." It is a "bad habit," which like other habits, has become a second nature, with the great body of the cultivators of the soil. As it now is, it has descended, without change, from father to son, through generations and through centuries. In vain will you appeal to the old men. They will hear you and agree to the truth of what you say, but they will not change their ways—the old bad habit remains. The children are the hope of the country, and they must be instructed in the simple elementary principles of Agriculture. Teach the children of this year, and in ten years you have a whole body of farmers taught. In this let us follow Germany and France, let us follow nature and common sense.

CO-OPERATION.

Agriculture is, and must be, of paramount importance to the people of North Carolina—it is our first and greatest pursuit—our leading interest—the foundation of everything else—the present mode of cultivation calls for a general and thorough change—the whole system must be remodelled and suited to our present circumstances—our various resources must be developed and brought into use. And this great work should be commenced in earnest, without further delay, and carried on with all the energy and perseverance of all our people. To accomplish this great end requires much more than ordinary Agricultural Societies expect to accomplish. Their chief design is to bring out for exhibition whatever is most excellent in every branch of Agriculture, and in every department of industry. Thus all see what has been done, and what may be done, and emulation, interest, and zeal are aroused. But there is no opportunity here for acquiring full information, no place for general consultation and discussion of the various subjects of interest to the cultivator of the soil. The place for this is in the neighborhood club; the county association, the District Convention; and more especially in separate associations formed by the different classes of cultivators of the soil, the grain growers—the tobacco planters—the cotton planters, the nurserymen, &c.

All these associations should be formed, and should be fostered and sustained, and one spirit, one mind, one object should animate them all, the advancement of the agricultural condition of the State. Individual effort can do but little, the cause requires concert of action; organized, intelligent co-operation.

THE POLITICAL CONDITION.

After much reflection, it is thought that in an address of this kind, to the whole people of the State, allusion may with propriety be made to our political condition.

Two great political parties have arisen out of the new order of things, and are contending for superiority.

One of these parties evidently represents the great mass of the substantial, intelligent portion of the people, that portion of them which mainly bears the burdens of the government. And this party, it would seem, does not sufficiently regard the situation, power and influence of another great class of the people, the colored population, and endeavors to obtain and control the government without their aid, and in defiance of them.

The other party, on the contrary, seems mainly to rely upon the combined support of the colored population, and endeavors to obtain the control of the government without the aid and in defiance of the intelligent, tax-paying portion of the people. Of these two parties, with the experience of the past before us, and in the present condition of things, it may with safety be affirmed, that neither, while entertaining these views, can wisely and satisfactorily administer the State government.

The public good, for which government is instituted, rises superior to all party success and triumph.

It is time, it is full time, for "the sober second thought of the people" to act; and for their voice to be heard.

The North Carolina State Agricultural Convention will meet in Raleigh on the 11th of December next.

In it will be assembled a full representation of the Agricultural interests of the State; and there let the liberal, the wise, the patriotic leaders and prominent men of both political parties, meet with them, and there also let us have a full representation of that class of men whom the people formerly delighted to honor and to trust; such men as Calvin Graves, Alfred Dockery, David S. Reid, Giles Mebane, Matthew Eaton, the two venerable ex-Judges of the old Supreme Court, and many others all over the State of the same class of eminent citizens who have not of late taken a prominent part in public affairs. And there let this subject be submitted to the consideration of a Committee of such men as will command the respect and confidence of the whole people of the State to whom their report shall be made.

People of North Carolina! a new future lies before us. Shall it be a future of success, of prosperity, of greatness, or a calamitous failure?

The crisis is upon us. Let us prove ourselves worthy in energy, wisdom and prowess of that renowned race of men from whom we boast our descent.

J. W. NORWOOD, President North Carolina Agricultural Convention.

DIRECTORS:

FAREWELL.

Ye spirits of the woody dell,
To each, to all I bid farewell, The distant hills before me rise,
The distant tree-tops kiss the skies;
The early dawn upon the hills,
And a strain my spirit thrills, Aurora loosed her golden hair,
The listening earth breathes forth a prayer,
The drowsy hum of insect tribe Fills all the air on either side, The rosy lips of morning ope Like the faint dawn of my hope, All nature sings her matin hymn, For lo! the sun his course begins, How calm the scene on which I gaze, How sweet the air that I inhale, How every bird, each flower and tree—Their offerings bring—oh Lord, to thee?
My soul is sad with the farewell, My quivering lips too soon must tell;
I've loved ye long, I've loved ye well, Yet must I bid ye all farewell!

SIR:—The Piano which I purchased from you in September, 1870, is a very superior one. It has been frequently tested by competent judges, all of whom give unequivocal testimony to its excellence. I could not ask for a better instrument.
Very Respectfully,
